

OLD Cowtown MUSEUM

Within the boundaries of Cowtown, time is frozen in the 1880s. Visitors leave a world filled with freeways and shopping malls to journey back to one with horse-drawn carriages, dirt roads and candle-lit historic homes.

Cowtown is unique. It tells the stories of the Victorian families, cowboys, and farmers who were the first to call Wichita home. It has the honor of being among the 4% of museums nationwide to be accredited by the American Alliance of Museums. It is our responsibility to protect Cowtown and its established national reputation.

Specifically, your financial support of Historic Wichita Cowtown, Inc. provides funding for education programming, bus scholarships and care and maintenance of the museum collection and exhibits.

"History is who we are and why we are the way we are."

Author David McCullough
