Welcome to Old Cowtown Museum. We are glad you are coming and look forward to working with you to meet your educational goals. If you have any ideas, requests, or comments don’t hesitate to call 316-350-3322.

BEFORE YOUR FIELD TRIP

REVIEW THE PURPOSE FOR YOUR TRIP—Old Cowtown Museum sets out goals and themes for its tours and programs; help your students gain the most from their experience by sharing with them the goals you have for this field trip. For this program your class will be divided into 2-3 small groups; you may wish to assign students to those groups prior to arriving at Cowtown.

CHAPERONES—Chaperones can enrich the educational value of the trip and help to keep your students safe and focused on the educational activities. Please bring at least one chaperone for every 10 students. A handout for chaperones has been included with this packet; distribute it to all chaperones prior to your arrival at Cowtown.

LUNCH PLANS—Old Cowtown Museum provides picnic tables for those who wish to bring their lunches. Tables are available on a “first-come, first-served basis. Remind your student not to take snacks from the picnic area into the rest of the Museum.

NAME TAGS—We require name tags that list the name of the school and first name of each child and chaperone in your tour group (as well as last name if possible). This helps our interpreters address student questions and is helpful when dealing with unforeseen injury or security issues.

SPENDING MONEY—The Old Cowtown Museum gift shop, S. G. Bastian and Sons Mercantile, will be open during your visit. The shop offers products that are educational, fun, and sentimental in a wide range of prices (from approximately $1.00 to $15).

(Please note that S. G. Bastian and Sons sells toy “weapons” to the general public; however, we respect the zero tolerance weapons policy enforced at school. To assist your students in complying with that policy, Old Cowtown Museum will not intentionally sell any toy “weapons” to school children on school-approved field trips.)

Some teachers do not allow students to bring money because they are afraid that students will lose it, have it stolen, or that some will bring more than others. Other teachers encourage students to purchase mementos of their field trip. Whether you permit or discourage your students to bring money, we encourage you to state and enforce your preference before the trip to eliminate confusion and conflict.
CLOTHING—To enhance the sense of going back in time, we encourage students to dress as they did in the 1870s.

For girls, calico and cotton dresses were usually full, with long sleeves, and frequently aprons were worn over their dresses. Their hair was often worn in long braids, sometimes with ribbons. Bonnets or straw hats were worn in summer and stocking caps in the winter.

For boys knickers (short trousers that fit tightly just above or just below the knee) were favored; however, sometimes long trousers were worn. Suspenders were worn to keep their pants up. Boys’ shirts had long full sleeves and often round collars. Boys wore hats or caps of straw or felt in the summer and, just like girls, stocking caps in winter.
PRE-VISIT CHECKLIST

___ Schedule your tour as far in advance as possible.
___ Share with the students your tour objectives and expectations.
___ Select at least one pre-visit activity that is suited to your students.
___ Brainstorm with your students questions they wish to have answered on the tour.
___ Determine (tentatively) at least one post-visit activity.
___ Confirm your transportation arrangements.
___ Make lunch arrangements if necessary.
___ Collect fees and have a single check prepared payable to Old Cowtown Museum.
___ Review behavior expectations with students.
___ Encourage students to wear 1870s clothing.
___ Create and distribute name tags.
___ Collect signed permission slips if necessary.

___ Chaperones
    ___ Be sure you have a minimum of 1 chaperone for every 10 students.
    ___ Inform chaperones about the tour and their expected participation.
    ___ Provide a map and educational background material.
    ___ Provide with strategies for dealing with unacceptable behavior.
    ___ Provide a copy of “Your Role as a Chaperone” and “We Need Your Help.”
    ___ Inform chaperones of time schedule (departure and arrival back at school)
FOR THE CHAPERONE

We at Old Cowtown Museum are grateful that you will be coming to the Museum with your child/group. This is a wonderful opportunity for children to see and experience many things they do not normally encounter.

Your participation is very important; you have an opportunity to assist in the education of the children you are with by helping them focus on the educational activities. You can also enrich their visit by sharing your knowledge and by the quality of your interactions with them. Stay with the children at all times and help to direct their attention as you walk through the Museum.

General Guidelines

1) Be familiar with what the teacher expects to be accomplished during the tour.

2) Stay with your students at all times.

3) You are entrusted with the safety and care of the children you are with; watch and make sure they are acting in a safe manner at all times. The boardwalks are uneven, rough, and may be slick especially when it is raining or snowing. Please have the children walk carefully on the boardwalks so they do not slip or trip and fall.

4) Please drink water only at the water fountains by the restrooms. The water you pump from the hand pumps is not clean enough to drink!

5) Remind students to ask before touching; some items are artifacts and should not be touched.

6) When encountering animals, please do not allow children to chase or pick them up.

7) Model the behaviors you expect the students to follow.

We want your visit to Old Cowtown Museum to be a safe and enjoyable experience for all our visitors. For the benefit of all our guests please encourage your students to follow all our guidelines.

Thank you again for accompanying this group to Old Cowtown Museum!
ATTENTION TOUR LEADER:

Please read the following information to your students prior to arriving at the Museum even if they have participated in programs at the Museum before. Thank you!

We are glad you will be coming to visit the Old Cowtown Museum!

STUDENTS WE NEED YOUR HELP

In order that your visit will be a safe one and to make sure that Old Cowtown will last a long time for others to see and enjoy, please follow these rules.

1) There may be many other classes here at the same time you are here. Please stay with your teacher/chaperone at all times and wear your nametag.

2) The boardwalks are uneven, rough, and may be slick especially when it is raining or snowing. Please walk carefully on the boardwalks so you do not slip or trip and fall.

3) Please drink water only at the water fountains by the restrooms. The water you pump from the hand pumps is not clean enough to drink!

4) Remember to ask before touching; some items are artifacts and should not be touched.

5) When encountering animals, please do not pick them up or chase them. Pet the cats and watch the chickens (they have claws and sharp beaks).

Thank you for helping to make your visit a safe one!
DAY OF THE FIELD TRIP

CHECK IN—Please arrive at the Visitors Center, 1865 West Museum Blvd. (Sim Park Drive) on the east side of the Museum grounds. Please bring one check payable to Old Cowtown Museum. (Those with memberships will need to present their membership card before entering.) After rejoining your group, our staff will permit you onto the grounds.

DEPARTURE—The museum is a closed loop so you will depart the same direction way you entered. We strongly encourage you to leave your tour evaluations at the entrance complex when you are leaving. Should you choose to submit it by mail, send it to Old Cowtown Museum, Education Department, 1865 West Museum Blvd., Wichita, KS 67203.

MAP—A map is provided on the back of this guide. When you arrive you and your chaperones will be provided with complete maps of Old Cowtown Museum.

RESTROOMS—There are three restrooms available to the groups—one in the Visitors Center; two on the Museum grounds on the east in a red building near the School House and on the west behind the Meat Market. Drinking fountains are also available at these locations.

EMERGENCIES—In case of emergency a telephone is available in the Visitors Center. Should anyone need to contact you or your group, they may call the Visitors Center (350-3323) and a staff member will locate you. Identification is easiest if your students are wearing name tags.

FIRST AID—For minor injuries we have a first aid kit in the Visitors Center and Saloon. Your tour guide will have access to a first aid kit at all times. For more serious incidents we will call 911.

SECURITY—Should an emergency occur that would require Security assistance, such as a lost child, contact any employee on the grounds who will place you in contact with Old Cowtown Museum Security personnel.

SEVERE WEATHER—The personnel in the Visitors Center monitor weather conditions. In case of severe weather, our interpretive staff will alert you and guide you to shelter.

LOST AND FOUND—Items found at the Museum can be turned in at the Visitors Center. Check for lost items at the same location.

MUSEUM MISSION AND PURPOSE
Old Cowtown is an open-air, living history museum that interprets the history of Wichita, Sedgwick Country, and life on the southern plains, circa 1865-1880. The Museum accomplishes this through the preservation of artifacts, by exposure to interactive historic experiences, and other activities for the education and entertainment of our visitors.

TOUR OVERVIEW

Students will compare the work and leisure activities of a child in the 1870s to their own experience by participating in typical activities of the era. This program requires active participation on the part of all adults who accompany the class to monitor and participate in outside activities. If you would like a more detailed description of the activities, please contact the Education Department.

A complete tour of Cowtown is not provided. Be sure to allow time in your schedule if you would like to take one of our self-guided tours of the grounds either before or after the Daily Life program.

TOUR OBJECTIVES & DESCRIPTIONS

This program, including the pre- and post-visit activities, should help your students meet the following Social Studies curriculum standards set forth by the Kansas State Board of Education.

Kindergarten

– Self

Kindergarteners will experience firsthand some of the physical challenges of some 1870 chores as well as the rationale behind them. They will have the opportunity to try some of the manners to learn how the greater society expected them to behave, they will also try some of the games popular in the 1870s. All these activities are designed to provide with a well-rounded view of how they would experience life in Victorian society.

Kansas History Government Social Studies Standards

The student will recognize and evaluate significant choices made by individuals, communities, states, and nations that have impacted our lives and futures. (KHGSS 1.1)

-- Students will examine how making choices to meet their daily needs at home affects their lives.

-- Students will recognize needs are defined as those things that are a necessity to life.

-- Students will recognize that people make choices because they cannot have everything they want.

-- Students understand that money can be used to purchase goods and services.

The student will recognize and evaluate the rights and responsibilities of people living in societies. (KHGSS 2.1)

-- Students will explore their responsibilities at home.

-- Students will recognize the existence and importance of rules at home.

-- Students will understand the role of authority figures at home and why they are needed.

-- Students will know that people work at jobs to earn money to pay for what they want and need.

The student will recognize and evaluate continuity and change over time and its impact on individuals, institutions, communities, states, and nations. (KHGSS 4.1)

-- Students will understand that rules change and why they change.

First Grade

– Family

The family in the 1870s was social training ground that required participation from all to function well. First graders will learn and understand the expectations of the child’s role in an 1870 Victorian family. Through exposure to parlor life they will come to know there job of upholding the family image and their proper participation. With chores such as carrying water, laundry, and butter churning they will learn about the essential role of chores in the function of the family as well as the economic challenges. With the games and toys they will experience the low tech ways that children found to amuse themselves.

KANSAS HISTORY GOVERNMENT SOCIAL STUDIES STANDARDS

The student will recognize and evaluate significant choices made by individuals, communities, states, and nations that have impacted our lives and futures. (KHGSS 1.1)

--Students will recognize that rules have positive consequences, such as keeping them safe and --negative consequences if they ignore safety rules.

--Students will explore how people decide what is a want and what is a need?

--Students will recognize that people and families cannot have everything they want so they have to make choices.

The student will recognize and evaluate the rights and responsibilities of people living in societies. (KHGSS 2.1)

-- Students will explore the rights and responsibilities family members have to each other.

-- Students will understand that people have jobs to earn money in order to meet needs and wants.

The student will recognize and evaluate continuity and change over time and its impact on individuals, institutions, communities, states, and nations. (KHGSS 4.1)

--Students will explore the changing role of family over time.

--Students will understand how different families met their need for shelter and other basic needs.

--Students will explore how have people’s wants and needs changed over time?

SECOND GRADE

- Continuity and change

Second grade students experience will demonstrate that the goals and function of Victorian home life are not that different from modern times, though the means and methods are different. They will explore the different inventions that were created to meet people’s wants and needs in leisure, and housework. This experience should provide a basis for comparison with their modern life.

KANSAS HISTORY GOVERNMENT SOCIAL STUDIES STANDARDS

The student will recognize and evaluate significant choices made by individuals, communities, states, and nations that have impacted our lives and futures. (KHGSS 1.1)

--Students will explore how have past inventions changed or impacted their daily life.

--Students will explore how do people decide what is a want and what is a need?

The student will recognize and evaluate the rights and responsibilities of people living in societies. (KHGSS 2.1)

--Students will explore why need rules are needed in society.

The student will recognize and evaluate significant beliefs, contributions, and ideas of the many diverse peoples and groups and their impact on individuals, communities, states, and nations. (KHGSS 3.1)
--Students will explore who decides what rules are made and followed.

The student will recognize and evaluate continuity and change over time and its impact on individuals, institutions, communities, states, and nations. (KHGSS 4.1)

--Students will recognize and evaluate continuity and change over time through the study of daily life of a Plains Indian family, a pioneer family, and a modern family.

-- Students will describe how people’s wants and needs have changed over time have.

-- Students will draw conclusions about how people meet their wants and needs in the past and today.

-- Students will recognize that past inventions are the foundation for future improvements
Wichita of the 1870s is popularly thought of as an unsophisticated cattle town with little cultural activity, whose inhabitants were exposed to a life of economic hardship and suffered from a lack of available goods. In truth, after the arrival of the railroad Wichita consumers had access to the same products as consumers in the East. Though every family was not wealthy, all families had access to a wide variety of goods. Any product imaginable could be ordered by Wichita merchants and enjoyed by their customers.

Wichita’s citizens were also not isolated from the cultural influences of the East, rather they sought them. They established churches, schools, and social organizations that reflected Eastern culture as well as an interest in the latest styles of clothing, furniture, and housewares. Most importantly, they also adopted the same patterns of Victorian lifestyle and ideals about home, life, and the new idea of childhood as the East.

Home was seen as a refuge for the weary spirit, a sacred asylum, and a place where the “care-word heart retreats to find rest from the toils and inquietudes of life.” They also promoted home as a sacred haven of protection for innocent and impressionable children, who, with the proper home atmosphere and parental training, could be expected to maintain their virtuous nature throughout their lives.

During the last half of the nineteenth century, children came to be seen not as small adults but as ones in a unique stage of life. Benevolence was the rule and many books, such as The Royal Path of Life published in 1874, provided guidance.

“Children are more easily led to be good by examples of loving kindness and tales of well-doing in others, than threatened into obedience by records of sin, crime and punishment. Then, on the infant mind impress sincerity, truth, honesty, benevolence and their kindred virtues and the welfare of your child will be insured not only during this life, but the life to come. Never scold children, but soberly and quietly reprove. Do not employ shame except in extreme cases. The suffering is acute; it hurts self-respect in the child to reprove a child before the family; to ridicule it, to tread down its feelings ruthlessly, is to wake in its bosom malignant feelings.”

The new idea of childhood as a time of fun and happiness as a priority in their lives developed in sharp contrast to the previous idea of sin and work; but, children were not to be left to create their own values. They needed and received proper moral instruction through their schoolwork, literature, toys, games, music, and church participation.

Toys and activities were structured along traditional gender patterns and geared toward training them in their future societal roles. Their toys were miniature models of the real-life items. The idea of playing house and working with miniature carpentry tools was a method of instruction for their future roles as wives and mothers and fathers and providers.

Children’s’ roles in the home reflected these gender differences.

Despite this, children did have chores, but they were more than tasks. They were a contribution to the building of the home as an ideal haven of nurturing.

The treatment of Wichita children reflected the societal values of the time. The understanding of the idea of childhood in the nineteenth century is crucial in order to understand their experience and the role they played in society as a whole.
PRE-/POST-VISIT ACTIVITIES

Read the following chapters in Laura Ingalls Wilder’s book On the Banks of Plum Creek: Chapter 16, “The Wonderful House”; Chapter 17, “Moving In”; Chapter 22, “Town Party”; and Chapter 23, “Country Party”. This book will expose your students to a country house of the era, as well as a house similar to the Story-and-a-Half House they will be visiting at Cowtown and the differences between city and country lifestyles.

Town Party

The girls going to the country party wore their only dresses, pressed bonnets, and ribbons in their hair, but no shoes and stockings; however it becomes clear that Nellie wears shoes and stockings and has a new dress to wear to the party.

The house had a carpet on the floor (a rarity) and the walls and ceilings were covered with wainscoting with colored pictures on the walls. The table and chairs were a polished yellow wood, and the bedroom had a finished wood bed as well as a dresser and washtub.

The children living in town had store-bought, manufactured toys. Nellie had two store-bought dolls: a china doll and a wax doll that talked and had moveable eyes. The wax doll also had clothes that were expensive. Willie had a velocipede (tricycle), a Noah’s Ark, tin soldiers, and a wood jumping jack. They also had books with printed color pictures.

A sugar-white cake (white sugar was a luxury) was served on china plates on a glossy white tablecloth with lemonade to drink.

Country Party

The Ingalls’ house, where the country party was held, was clean but had exposed stud walls and home-made curtains on the windows. The floors were bare, and the girls slept in the attic on straw ticks. The furniture was sparse; Laura’s mother served meals on a table with a plain white cloth, and they sat on benches to eat.

The children had very few toys: Laura’s paper dolls, her rag doll, and a well-worn picture book of animals.

Vanity cakes, fried with no sugar and no expensive white-sugar frosting, were served at the party with cold milk from the cellar in tin cups.

Why Doesn’t Everyone Have the Same Things?

In small groups ask students to compare the two houses and create a list of differences and similarities; then speculate why there was a difference in the kind of possessions. Bring the class back together and discuss each group’s findings.

If You Just Had One . . .

Laura has very few toys, none of them manufactured, and Nellie has a few more but not many. Ask students to pick a toy from those they have a home that they would keep if they could only have one toy. Then, write a story about using that toy and how they would modify or change it to use in different ways.

Can You Provide For Yourself?

The Ingalls family created things they needed (like curtains) largely out of economic necessity. Ask students to speculate about what things they could make to play with if they were unable to purchase toys. (e.g., castle from a box, game of checkers from colored cardboard and pennies—head up/tails down—for pieces)

They Dress Funny, Don’t They?

Show your students the photograph of the children in front of the school (page 6 of this packet). Explore the following.

Can your students think of situations today when they might be dressed in a similar manner?
Explain that this was daily dress of the 1870s; compile a list of the ways that the 1870s children’s clothing differs from what children wear today.

Can the students tell what time of year the picture was taken? What clues did they use on which to base their answer? Does the fact that they are wearing long sleeved clothing mean particularly that it was fall or early spring?  (Most schools were held in the late fall, after harvest, and early spring before planting. Children, as a matter of fashion and morals, wore long sleeved garments all year round.)

Clothing in the 1870s was made of natural fabrics such as wool and cotton. What would be some of the problems in wearing this type of clothing all the time? Remind them that much of today’s clothing is made for “comfort.” Ask them if it would be possible to be comfortable all year round in the clothing in the photograph.  (Cotton has the ability to “wick” perspiration from the skin to be evaporated. Wool has the reputation of keeping one cool in the summer, and warm in the winter. Because of its weave, moisture [perspiration or rain/snow] passes through it, and as it is woven, the air spaces provide insulation in the winter.)

Bring in samples of wool and cotton and ask the students how they feel on their skin. Have the students examine two manmade and two natural fibers, focusing on the skin feel, the comfort level and durability of each.  (Polyesters and nylon do not “breathe,” and often feel rough on the skin.)  After this examination, have the students make charts that list the merits and flaws of each, and how they would best be used.  (Nylon is used for tents, cotton for close-to-skin garments, etc.)  Direct the students to then list what qualities they believe the ideal fabric should have.

Have students examine the labels of clothing for material content and speculate why so much of our clothing today is a mixture of fabrics.  (Natural fibers tend to wear quicker, so man made fibers are added for their relative strength.)

Look at pictures of people from other cultures (India, Middle East, Inuit, Far East, etc.) who wear clothing that fits their culture as well as climate. Have the students write about one piece of clothing that they would add to their outfit, and one that they would delete, that would help them better cope with their environment.

CAN YOU IMAGINE?

After students have examined the photograph of the school children and read selections from the _Little House_ books or others from the reading list that describe life in the 1870s, have each of your students select one child from the photograph and create a character for that image, including the name, history of that child, what they think daily life would be like for that child, and the child’s aspirations for the future. This project could be started before your field trip and completed following their return.

THIS IS THE WAY WE WASH OUR CLOTHES

Now that students have had a chance to try laundry the old-fashioned way, remind them how the agitator of a washing machine works. Ask them if they can think of any other ways this same sort of action could be accomplished. Relate how the scrubbing action on the washboard is the same type of action that the washers of today use. Technology has adapted and mimicked the same type of action to achieve the same results (with less manual labor). Help the students compile a list of other machines that accomplish this same principle.  (a jack hammer mimics the repeated action of a hammer, a chain saw mimics a hand saw, a sewing machine mimics hand sewing)

CHILDREN’S GAMES

In the 1870s, play activities were seen as an important part of a child's development, and parents were encouraged to provide playtime for their children. The following list of games and activities were popular in the 1870s. You might learn and play a few of them before your field trip.  (The outdoor games require equipment your class will find at Old Cowtown Museum.)

Typical 1870s children’s games include the following:

- Hide and Seek
- Run, Sheep, Run
- Ring-Around-the-Rosie
Tug-O-War  Marbles  Skipping Rope (Jump Rope)
Farmer in the Dell  Jacks  Blind Man’s Bluff
Simon Says  Hopscotch  Follow the Leader
Dominoes  Backgammon  “Round the Mulberry Bush
Tag  Drop the Handkerchief  Checkers

Jump Rope Rhymes

Mabel, Mabel, Set the Table
Mabel, Mabel, set the table
Don’t forget the red hot label,
Shake the salt and shake the pepper,
Who will be the highest stepper?
Winds blows hot and winds blow freeze
How many times will Mabel sneeze?
One, two, three . . .

Lady, Lady, Touch the Ground
Lady, lady, touch the ground,
Lady, lady, turn around,
Lady, lady, touch your shoe,
Lady, Lady, now skidoo.

Wash the Dishes
Wash the dishes, dry the dishes,
Have a cup of tea,
Don’t forget the sugar,
A-one, A-two, A-three

I Like Coffee, I Like Tea
I like coffee, I like tea,
I like sitting on Bobby’s knee,
Salute to the king and bow to the queen,
And turn your back on the gypsy queen.

Jacks

Jacks is played with a ball and ten metal jacks. The object of the game is to toss the ball in the air and pick up a certain number of jacks before the ball hits the ground, or in the case of a rubber ball, bounces twice. The ball toss, catch, and jack pick-up are all done with one hand. The play is done in rounds with all players attempting to pick up jacks one at a time, then two, and so on. If a player misses a number or touches another, he must discontinue his play. When it becomes that player’s turn again, depending upon the agreement, that player must begin at one at a time or may begin at the level that was reached previously. The winner is the one who goes through all the levels and picks up all ten at once.

Dominoes

The dominoes are placed face down, and each player draws 5 from the pile. The player with the highest double begins by placing it in the center. The second player places a domino with the same number perpendicular to it. This is followed by another player matching either the open double or the new end of the just placed domino. Doubles are played perpendicular to the domino number it matches. If a player cannot place one to match an existing number, that player must draw from the pile until one is found that can be played. The first one with no dominoes left wins. Points are scored by giving the winner one point for each dot on the losers domino. Games are usually played to 100.

Marbles (Ring Taw)

Draw a circle in the dirt and let each player place as many marbles in it as agreed upon. Draw a line a little distance off from which the players are, by turn, to shoot at the ring. This line is called the “offing.” If a player shoots a marble out of the ring he is entitled to shoot again before the others. When the players have “fired” once, they shoot from the place where their marbles rested at the last “fire,” not from the offing. If a marble is driven out of the ring by a player, it is won; but if a player has knocked any marbles out of the ring before his “taw” gets in, he must put those marbles back in. If one player’s taw istruck by another, the one whose taw is truck is “out,” and must give to the striker all the marbles he may have previously struck out of the ring.
The following outdoor games require equipment your class will find at Old Cowtown Museum.

CUP AND BALL. A ball of ivory or hardwood is attached to a stem of the same substance, having a shallow cup at one end and a point at the other. The player holds the stem in his right hand, as shown in the figure and, having caused the ball to revolve by twirling it between the finger and thumb of the left hand, jerks it up and catches it either in the cup or upon the spike. We need scarcely say that the latter feat can only be performed by a skillful player. Cup and ball was a favorite pastime at the court of Henry III of France.

T-STICK AND METAL HOOP. Hold the “T” stick handle at the furthest end of the T. At the same time hold the metal hoop against the handle with the same hand. Let the hoop roll down the handle, and when it hits the ground gently push the hoop with the stick attempting to maintain contact all the time. By moving the T to either side of the hoop as you chase it, you can make it turn left or right.

LARGE HOOP AND STICK. Begin by standing the hoop up. Place the stick on top of the hoop as it is standing and push down on it slightly. Then quickly push the stick forward. The friction between the two will push the big hoop forward. The player then chases the hoop, striking it from the back and towards the hoop as it is rolling in an oval fashion. This will keep the hoop rolling forward.

GRACES.

This is usually an indoor sport that suffices when a boy is kept in the house on a rainy day, but is only an amusement to be indulged in when there are parties. Boys never play it with each other, except for a “lark.” It is a very graceful exercise, however, and good training for catching a ball. Each party is armed with a hoop and two light sticks. One person places the hoop on his sticks and makes an “X” with the sticks. The hoop remains between the “V” formed by the sides of the X. The hoop is to be thrown by one party toward his opponents from the crossed ends of his sticks by sliding them to the side. As the hoop slides to the top propelled by the sticks that are being uncrossed, the opponent attempts to catch the hoop on his outstretched sticks. The young lady throws hers in the same way, and each catches the hoops by the other party—the two hoops being kept going back and forth through the air. It may be played with one hoop.
